UCLA has received a two-year grant from the National Science Foundation to conduct the first large-scale survey of Iranians in the United States. The objective of this project is to study the patterns of social and economic adaptation of Iranians in the metropolitan Los Angeles area, which contains the largest concentration of Iranians in the nation.

Georges Sabagh (Professor of Sociology and Director, von Grunebaum Center for Near Eastern Studies) is the Principal Investigator, and Ivan Light (Professor of Sociology) is the co-Principal Investigator of this study. Mehdi Bozorgmehr, a doctoral student in the Department of Sociology , is the Project Director. Administered by the Institute for Social Science Research, the study involves a number of graduate and undergraduate Iranian students at UCLA.

THE PERSIAN HERITAGE FOUNDATION grants annual awards of up to $5000, in three categories, as an aid towards publishing.

1. Scholarly works dealing with Iranian humanities when they qualify as original research or synthesis of a high standard.
2. Translations of works of merit from Persian or other Iranian languages which conform to the required standards of accuracy and readability.
3. Booksize manuscripts of poetry or creative prose in English by Persian writers.

Minimum length requirements:

- Scholarly prose: 60,000 words
- Creative prose in English or in translation: 50,000 words
- Poetry: 100 typescript pages

Publishers or authors may apply. Dissertations should be made "publishable" in book form and be accompanied by two letters from scholars in the field expressing clearly that the work is suitable for publication in its present form.

The Persian Heritage Foundation award extends to French and German works as well, after they have been screened by the chairman of the French and German committee.

The granting of the awards is administered by the Society for Iranian Studies and Columbia University's Center for Iranian Studies. The deadline for 1987 is March 1.

The letter of application for the award, as well as any other correspondence except the manuscripts, should be sent to:

The Executive Secretary
The Society for Iranian Studies
c/o Center for Middle Eastern Studies
Harvard University
1737 Cambridge Street, Room 521
Cambridge, MA 02138

Two copies of the final, edited manuscript, ready for printing in every respect (including introduction and notes, if pertinent), should be sent to:
